A MONSTROUS COLLABORATION

Archer Muse & Kizer Mars

Godzilla woke beneath a burning sky,
and dreamed of wings that cut the clouds in two.
The sea was calm, the city held its breath,
for Rodan's shadow crossed the morning blue.

and dreamed of wings that cut the clouds in two.
He'd never loved a thing that flew so free,
for Rodan's shadow crossed the morning blue.
his heart beat louder than the ocean's roar.

He'd never loved a thing that flew so free,
The King of Monsters blushed a deeper green,
his heart beat louder than the ocean's roar.
and wrote her name in fire along the shore.

The King of Monsters blushed a deeper green,
No rival's roar could ever match that song,
and wrote her name in fire along the shore.
she banked and turned, and he forgot the war.

No rival's roar could ever match that song,
He offered her the whole Pacific's tide,
she banked and turned, and he forgot the war.
a crown of coral, and a mountain's door.

He offered her the whole Pacific's tide,
Godzilla woke beneath a burning sky,
a crown of coral, and a mountain's door.
The sea was calm, the city held its breath,